Head Coach Matt Pivrotto

Matt Pivrotto's seven-year tenure as head coach of The University of Scranton men's soccer program has been highlighted by two Freedom Conference post-season tournament appearances and the development of 13 players who have gone on to earn all-league honors, including Jeremy Basedow, the co-recipient of the 2002 Freedom Conference most valuable player (MVP) award. Two of his players—Basedow and Eric Kunzinger—have also been named all-regional by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA).

A native of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, and a former standout player at Bishop Neumann High School and Lycoming College, Pivrotto took over the Royal program just weeks before the start of the 1999 season.

Scranton bounced back from a 3-16 mark in Pivrotto's first season by posting an 8-9-1 overall record, which included its first Freedom Conference post-season tournament berth since 1998 with a 4-2-1 mark in league play. After narrowly missing the playoffs in 2001, the Royals earned another spot in the Freedom Conference post-season tournament by earning the number three seed with a 5-2 record in league play in 2002.

Pivrotto put up some impressive credentials while a player on the high school and collegiate level. He scored a career record 77 goals at Bishop Neumann before enrolling at Lycoming, where he finished as the Warriors' all-time leading scorer with 128 total points. He earned all-Middle Atlantic Conference honors four times and was the league's player of the year in 1996. He also garnered all-regional honors twice by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (NSCAA). He graduated from Lycoming in 1998 with a Bachelor of Science degree in business finance.

In keeping up with the latest trends in coaching, Pivrotto has earned national license, advanced national license and Level I goal-keeping certification from the NSCAA.
